Vietnamese, Larger Cong Force Clash

Communists Wreck 2 Bridges Carrying Marines' Supplies

SAIGON (AP) — A Vietnamese government battalion — 500 or so troops — was reported heavily engaged tonight with a larger Viet Cong force near Bac Lieu, 130 miles south of Saigon in the Mekong Delta. Military sources had no immediate word on casualties.

The guerrilas seemed to have largely eluded 2,000 other government troops who launched a Delta drive Wednesday 95 miles southwest of Saigon in the Can Tho area. These troops said they had killed 13 Viet Cong, while their own casualties were light.

In the North, Communist forces wrecked two bridges that carried heavy supply traffic from Da Nang from U.S. Marines defending South Vietnam's most threatened province, Quang Tri, from Red attacks across the demilitarized zone.

Ground fighting generally continued at a low pitch, and the U.S. command announced casualty figures for last week reflecting the drop in major action. The report said 177 Americans and 1,478 Cmmunists were killed last week and 1,345 Americans were wounded. All these figures were below the average of recent weeks.

However, Vietnamese army casualties increased about 40 per cent over the week before to 284 killed and 69 missing. Some of the increase was due to activity in the northern part of South Vietnam, including the Communist attack on the provincial capital of Quang Tri last weekend.

The two bridges that the Communists brought down were on the main highway from the Marine base at Da Nang to Quang Tri.

The biggest was a quarter-mile-long railway and highway bridge six miles above Da Nang. Communist swimmers before dawn apparently floated explosives into place against one of the support towers, and the explosion brought down two of the five spans.

Asylum Granted To Red Chinese Family By U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Chinese sources say that Ma Szu-tsung, a cultural leader and violinist, fled his Communist China homeland last January in a small tugboat later found abandoned near Hong Kong.

The musician, whose escape was revealed Wednesday after he and his family were granted asylum in the United States, refused to comment on the report from his refuge at his brother's Manhattan apartment.

The Hong Kong sources with Nationalist Chinese contacts said today Ma was one of 12 escapees aboard the Communist tug and added they believed his son, Julon, 20, was with his father.

Ma's wife and their daughter Celia, 23, were understood to have taken a different route to freedom, according to the sources which refused to be quoted by name or position.

Ma told newsmen Wednesday he fled after spending "103 days in a dreadful hideout for devils and demons" and undergoing "what is too painful to describe" at the hands of young Red Guard terrorists.

"There is no hope for people like me in China," said the 54-year-old musician.

He refused to talk about how he escaped, saying the safety of too many persons in Red China would be jeopardized. The Chinese sources said Ma and his son waited in hiding in Hong Kong until the wife and daughter got out.

The sources were deliberately vague about the women's escape and refused to say whether they sought U.S. asylum through U.S. Consulate officials in Hong Kong or made their way to Taipei and asked for asylum there.

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP) — President Johnson challenged his Latin colleagues at the summit today to make this "a decade of urgency" for the hemisphere.

In his first formal speech at the 19-nation meeting, Johnson called for 10 years of intensive efforts on a broad front to speed the social and economic development of the Americas.

"I speak to you as a ready partner in that effort," he said.

Actually, Johnson's formal remarks were less attention-getting and significant than those he delivered Wednesday at a private session with his summit colleagues.

His earlier, informal statement had the look of a dramatic bid to still the clamor for more direct aid to Latin - American nations.

In his formal speech, the U.S. chief executive ticked off areas in which he said the United States was ready and eager to help—to support a proposed Latin-American common market, to help build big projects cutting across national boundaries (highways are an example), explore tariff advantages for all developing countries, to help modernize agriculture, and to promote better health and education.

"I pledge to you today," he said, "that I will do all I can, in my time of leadership, to help

In his first conference statement at a private meeting Wednesday, Johnson touched on two of the touchiest points at issue — the Latin Americans' desire for preferential treatment for their products in the U.S. market and their desire for relaxation of Washington's requirement that equipment purchased with U.S. loans and grants be bought in the U.S. market.

The President promised his Latin-American colleagues he would try to gain worldwide tariff concession for developing nations and would consider granting them freedom to spend certain kinds of U.S. aid money outside the United States. While Johnson's statement was calculated to put his fellow presidents in a receptive mood, he had no firm commitments.

Touching on the question of trade, he promised to explore the possibility of "temporary tariff advantages for all developing countries by all industrialized countries."

300 Strike At Hospital In Cleveland

Nonprofessional Employes Seeking Union Recognition

CLEVELAND (AP) — Nearly 300 nonprofessional employes staged a "stand-in" at St. Luke's Hospital, then struck Wednesday in an effort to gain union recognition.

It was the first strike against a general hospital in the Cleveland area and St. Luke's, with a 500-bed capacity, is one of the busiest. The hospital now has 480 patients, a spokesman said.

Hospital officials said operations Wednesday night were normal. Members of Local 47, Building Service and Maintenance Union, set up picket lines outside the complex on Shaker Boulevard.

Kenneth E. Shoos, hospital administrator, said hospital trustees have refused to recognize the union because of longstanding policy to deal with employes individually.

Joseph E. Murphy, local president, said "the hospital management is actually on strike against the public and the American way of collective bargaining."

Murphy said no trucks carrying vital goods would be prevented from crossing the picket line. He also offered the service of strikers for emergency duties.

Student nurses and volunteers were working to take up the slack.

The "stand-in" came as the first shift left duty between 3 and 3:30 p.m. Workers began gathering in the lobby. Other employes coming to work joined them.

Chicago Hard Hit

Some Truckers, Workers Balking

CHICAGO (AP) — Most of the nation's truck fleet rolled across the highways today after the end of a three-day lockout, but 56,000 Chicago drivers and dock workers remained off the job and turned back trucks from other points.

As a result of the nationwide lockout, tons of merchandise remained stacked up at loading docks and warehouses. Spokesmen estimated thousands of plant workers would remain idle the rest of the week before operations return to normal and depleted supplies are replenished.

The auto industry, unable to get parts, still had some 24,000 workers laid off.

Chicago was hardest hit, however, with thousands of factory workers idle and food shortages threatened if the local work stoppage continues.

Chicago's 4,700 trucking firms, their drivers and dock workers were not parties to the tentative agreement reached Wednesday in Washington between the Teamsters Union and long-haul truckers.

A federal mediator scheduled a new negotiating session in Chicago today in an effort to end the work stoppage.

Trucking Employers Inc. estimated 250,000 Teamsters members were idled by the nationwide lockout it ordered Sunday in retaliation for scattered driv-

GOP In House Seen Against Powell Seat

Meeting Planned By White House Leaders On Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — A number of House Republicans were reported today to oppose seating Adam Clayton Powell pending conclusion of a Justice Department probe of his alleged misconduct

While House leaders planned a meeting soon to decide what action to take in the wake of Powell's re-election Tuesday, Rep. Richard H. Poff, R-Va., said he has detected considerable feeling among members that the House should await Justice Department action.

"I think the House would be well advised to wait until the department has completed its investigation," said Poff, secretary of the House Republican Conference.

Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the GOP Conference, said he thought the House would seat Powell if members are assured the Justice Department plans to act.

And Rep. Charles McC. Mathias Jr., R-Md., said members are entitled to hear from the department about the validity of the charges against Powell before they vote on whether to seat him.

The select committee which investigated Powell — but whose recommendation to seat, censure and dock his pay was rejected by the House — accused the Harlem Democrat of converting to his own use more than $44,000 in salary illegally paid to his estranged wife, who did virtually no work.

House leaders, meeting Wednesday to discuss the state of Powell's court suit to overturn his exclusion, were told it might take several months to get a final decision from the Supreme Court. A federal judge last week threw out the suit, but Powell's attorneys carried the case to the Court of Appeals.

Adenauer, 91, Reported As 'Weakening'

BONN, Germany (AP) — Konrad Adenauer, seriously ill with flu and bronchitis, was weakening today.

A bulletin from the home of the 91-year-old former chancellor of West Germany said: "The organism's powers of resistance are declining. Heart and circulatory functions are weaker. His personal physician and doctors of Bonn University under the direction of Prof. Adolf Heymer are continuing to care for the patient."

Heymer, head of the university hospital, left Adenauer's house late this morning through the back entrance, shaking his head to newsmen's requests for information.

One visitor today was Konrad Adenauer, the ex-chancellor's eldest son, who is an executive of a coal firm in Cologne. He and his wife looked concerned but would not speak to reporters.

Doctors kept vigil all through the night at the aged statesman's home in Rhoendorf, overlooking the Rhine River.

To Lower North Viet

Shelling By Navy Being Restricted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Navy bombardment of North Vietnam's coast is restricted by orders from Washington to the lower half of the country, Pentagon sources said today.

U.S. ships engaged in shore bombardment authorized Feb. 27 are prohibited from shelling Communist targets north of the 20th Parallel, sources said.

This keeps naval fire at least 60 miles from North Vietnam's key port of Haiphong, major point of entry for Soviet and Communist Chinese shipments of war goods.

Other administration restrictions prevent Air Force and Navy planes from bombing MIG fields, zones circling Hanoi and Haiphong, and a buffer area along the North Vietnam-China border.

Although the Joint Chiefs of Staff recommended it months ago, the administration has resisted pressure to knock out or blockade Haiphong, fearing such a move might bring greater participation in the war by the Soviet Union or Red China.

Unable to seal off Haiphong, the chiefs urged last November greater use of Navy power to help curb the sea and coastal flow of supplies to Communist troops in South Vietnam.

The Navy launched patrols last fall to cut off supply-laden barges and junks.

In February the Navy was authorized to bombard the coast and mine southern waterways in North Vietnam. Marine and Army artillery were permitted to fire across the so-called demilitarized zone.

Firemen Training Center Proposed In Ohio Senate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— A bill to create an Ohio State Firemen's Training Academy under supervision of the state fire marshal has been introduced in the Ohio Senate.

The measure would provide for training of both fulltime amd volunteer firemen with operation of the school to be paid for by tuition charged political subdivisions benefiting from the program.

Sens. Ralph S. Regula R-29 Navarre, Stark and Michael J. Maloney R-7 Cincinnati, Hamilton offered the bill Wednesday as 22 measures were introduced in the two chambers.

The Senate passed a bill cutting down the length of time motorists have to purchase license plates. The House after the stormiest debate of the session, approved 74-9 a measure increasing the penalty for carrying concealed weapons. The House approved 89-0 a bill making Youngstown University a state-affiliated university.

Both houses adopted resolutions honoring Army Maj. Roger H. C. Donlon of Saugerties, N.Y., Vietnam veteran and Medal of Honor winner who visited the Statehouse prior to a speaking engagement Wednesday night at Martins Ferry.

The Senate bill on auto licenses sets March 16 to April 15 for their sale, eliminating a two-week extension approved two years ago which made them available at deputy registrars March 1-April 15. Sponsors explained the extension

His wife, Hazel Baker, high school librarian, also resigned.

Darlene Balmos' president of the Southern Local Teachers Association, presented the board with a new salary schedule which was adopted.

Teachers without bachelor's degrees will be paid a starting salary of $4,300, with increases to $4,900. The present schedule ranges from $3,900 to $4,600.

Motorist Reported 'Serious' In Wreck

NEW CUMBERLAND — Panfilo Filippi, 47, of Aliquippa is listed as "serious" today at Weirton General Hospital after his auto left Route 2 north of here and struck a hillside early this morning.

Hancock County sheriff's deputies said Filippi was southbound on Route 2 when his 1967 sedan ran off the berm, hit loose gravel and spun around before crashing into the hillside. The auto was termed a total loss.

Felippi suffered severe lacerations to the face and scalp.

Court Hearings Open On Bond Commission

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The stage was set for the Ohio Supreme Court to hear today oral arguments on whether Gov. James A. Rhodes' Ohio Bond Commission proposal should go to voters May 2.

Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe, in a brief filed Wednesday with the high court, contended the bond commission proposal designated Issue No. 1 for the May primary is properly on the ballots.

The attorney general asked the Sureme Court to reject a request by Columbus attorney Rankin Gibson, counsel for Democratic taxpayers, that Issue No. 1 be prevented from going before voters.

In February the Navy was authorized to bombard the coast and mine southern waterways in North Vietnam. Marine and Army artillery were permitted to fire across the so-called demilitarized zone.

During Board Meeting

Jack Baker Resigns Post In Southern Local Action

SALINEVILLE — High School Principal Jack Baker, formerly superintendent and longtime teacher in the system, resigned Wednesday night when the Southern Local Board of Education met at the high school.

Baker taught from 1934 until 1957, at which time he became superintendent. Last year he was named principal, replacing Thomas Leek, who took over the superintendent's post.

His wife, Hazel Baker, high school librarian, also resigned.

Darlene Balmos' president of the Southern Local Teachers Association, presented the board with a new salary schedule which was adopted.

Teachers without bachelor's degrees will be paid a starting salary of $4,300, with increases to $4,900. The present schedule ranges from $3,900 to $4,600.

Those with a degree will have a starting salary of $5,200, with increases to $6,700. This com-

Motorist Reported 'Serious' In Wreck

NEW CUMBERLAND — Panfilo Filippi, 47, of Aliquippa is listed as "serious" today at Weirton General Hospital after his auto left Route 2 north of here and struck a hillside early this morning.

Hancock County sheriff's deputies said Filippi was southbound on Route 2 when his 1967 sedan ran off the berm, hit loose gravel and spun around before crashing into the hillside. The auto was termed a total loss.

Court Hearings Open On Bond Commission

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The stage was set for the Ohio Supreme Court to hear today oral arguments on whether Gov. James A. Rhodes' Ohio Bond Commission proposal should go to voters May 2.

Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe, in a brief filed Wednesday with the high court, contended the bond commission proposal designated Issue No. 1 for the May primary is properly on the ballots.

The attorney general asked the Sureme Court to reject a request by Columbus attorney Rankin Gibson, counsel for Democratic taxpayers, that Issue No. 1 be prevented from going before voters.

nist Chinese slogans, was towed into Hong Kong harbor last Jan. 19 after it was found abandoned off Lan Tao Island.

First word of Ma's defection came from Washington where State Department press officer Carl Bartch announced the escape and the granting of Ma's request for asylum.

He referred reporters to Ma himself for further details. The family received newsmen in the apartment of his brother, Ma Sihon, who came to the United States in 1948.

Ma told of concentration camps where he underwent "thought reform" and of the indignities which the Red Guard students and revolutionary teachers inflicted on his mind and body.

"I was treated very badly and abused," he said in a tired voice. "I feared for my life and worse than that. Right now I am unable to perform because my health has been ruined by several months of hard labor."

Ma was president of Peking's Central Conservatory of Music and vice chairman of the Union of Chinese Musicians. He said that last June he was rounded up with more than 500 other persons and "kept in a sort of concentration camp to undergo thought reform."

His body was smeared with paste and abusive slogans on scraps of paper were stuck on him, he said. "I was called names and had to do hard labor every morning and in the afternoon and night had to prepare 'confessions'."

failed to relieve rush periods and added to the administrative costs.

In the House, backers of the gun bill asserted it would increase court convictions for first offenders which they said "we are not getting." Opponents termed the proposed penalty "a mere slap on the wrist."

Maximum penalty for a first offense would be a $500 fine and one year in jail instead of the present 1-3 year prison term. Subsequent offenders would face 3-10 years in prison.

"Some judges will not convict a first offender of a felony," said Rep. Joseph P. Tulley R-37 Lake, who explained the proposed penalty change.

Rep. Carl B. Stokes D-44 Cleveland, Cuyahoga sought another change with an amendment calling for a 1-3 year term for a first offense and a ban on probation for subsequent offenders sentenced to 3-10 years.

Rep. Richard G. Reichel R-29 Massillon, Stark, who headed a subcommittee on the bill, opposed Stokes' amendment, explaining that under Stokes' proposal, a teen-ager convicted for the first time would have a felony record.

The Chicago workers, members of the Teamsters Union and an independent union on strike, halted most truck traffic in the city and turned back hundreds of trucks which had set out from other cities after the national settlement.

Some long-haul drivers turned back by pickets started back to their home depots. Others telephoned their employers for instructions.

The strike also barred Chicago based long-haul drivers from heading for out-of-state points.

Long-hauls from Denver and Indiana were among those being routed around Chicago to avoid local pickets.

A Zenith Corp. spokesman said 10,000 of its employes were idle in eight Chicago area plants and warehouses because of the work stoppage. Four Motorola, Inc., plants employing 5,000 persons prepared to shut down because of a shortage of supplies.

More than 80 railroad cars of meat valued at millions of dollars remained undelivered in freight yards of the Chicago and North Western Railway and the Illinois Central Railroad.

Wanted: Road Improvement

The thousands of district motorists who use Route 68 between the Ohio line and Vanport should gain some encouragement from indications that Pennsylvania highway officials are at least thinking about improving the important traffic link.

State officials have asked for recommendations from Beaver County authorities on the proposed improvement of the road, which would include widening between Vanport and Midland and Midland to East Liverpool and a bypass at Midland.

Route 68 long has failed to meet the demands of the heavy flow of traffic to Midland at peak periods when Crucible Steel Co. employes are traveling to and from work.

The through traffic for years has caused heavy congestion in Midland, and the highway poses special hazards in such locations as Industry, where there are no sidewalks, where there are several dangerous intersections and where it is in great need of repair.

Route 68 will be an even more important link between Ohio and Pennsylvania when the Beaver Valley Expressway is completed. Even now, the highway through Midland carries more vehicles daily than Route 30 and Route 51, the other east-west arteries in the county.

Improvement of Route 68 is vital to the further development of western Beaver County, and highway officials owe the area speedy action on the project to assist full realization of the economic potential of Midland, Industry, Ohioville and the South Side.

Proud Record

The proud record of the Fairview Grange at Pughtown speaks for itself.

Its achievements have been many in meeting its objectives over the years.

The grange now is about to write another notable chapter in its colorful history by observing its 50th anniversary with an afternoon and evening program Saturday.

Deserving are the many "Happy Birthdays" the organization will receive on behalf of the occasion. We at The Review lustily join in the chorus.

Powell's Ticket To Coventry

By an 86 per cent margin, voters in Adam Clayton Powell's congressional district have sent him back to the U.S. House of Representatives.

If that is where they want him to be, that is where he belongs. The lower house of Congress was designed to be directly responsive to voters. They were to think of it as the place where they were represented — the seat of popular government.

Mr. Powell is undoubtedly their overwhelming choice as representative. The House of Representatives may not care for their choice. Certain members of the judicial branch may not care for it. Some people in the executive branch may not care for it. But the people Mr. Powell thinks of as his constituents have envinced their support. They are the only ones who matter.

Members of the House who voted last March 1 to exclude him from membership defied their own senior leadership. They opened a legal issue. They violated the principle that the people of the United States shall be represented by people of their own choice. They acted out of spite, not wisdom.

Their proper procedure, legally sound, would have been to exclude him from those prerogatives that can be bestowed on members of the House by their associates — committee chairmanships and the like.

It would be a one-way ticket to Coventry for Mr. Powell, who would not like the trip.

His constituents have the right to send him to Congress, but his colleagues have the right to send him to Coventry. It would all be perfectly legal, perfectly constitutional, even perfectly political.

Big Trucks Roll Again

The rumble of the big trucks is a welcome sign life-blood is being pumped back into the nation's economy.

A lockout employed by the trucking industry to forestall piecemeal striking may herald a new trend in collective bagaining.

A lockout or shutdown, sometimes referred to as an "employer strike," has a place in the traditional labor picture. It just is not used very often.

Determining if the lockout brought about agreement is purely conjecture. The fact remains a contract was negotiated without a Teamsters strike.

Despite union criticism of action by Trucking Employers, Inc., temporary shutdowns in the face of actual or threatened strikes have been held lawful where made to prevent uneconomical operation, danger to plant spoilage of materials, or interference with customer relationships.

Industry officials hinted the action was taken to prepare the way for President Johnson to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act and get an 80-day cooling-off period by injunction.

This would have assured the industry of continued operations during negotiations.

A legal question was raised, but avoided by quick settlement of the dispute, because the Taft-Hartley Act has never been invoked against an industry.

Look for an amendment in the near future to make it clear an employer's strike is subject to the same Taft-Hatley action as a strike by a union.

At any rate, the lockout proved effective in this case.

It is refreshing to have a new twist to the never-ending battle of management and labor.

Backlash

At last there is a backlash everyone can understand. It is happening in London and is called: a square backlash.

The meaning is obvious. The current trend is away from the Beatle, Rolling Stones type of music.

Believe it or not, nine of the 10 top tunes in London are ballads — only one is a Beatle pop number.

The small-timers, musicians and promoters alike, are disappearing from the scene. Only solid performers, those with something to present, are making the grade.

All those people who bowed their heads in shame and predicted the end of music have been proved wrong.

Distilled from the dregs at the bottom of an amplified guitar, we now have a new sound to add to the history of music.

To you it may not be in the categoy of jazz, dixieland or the big-band sound; but it is a musical voice of a generation.

Give it time. It still is in the refining stage. They may come out with a palatable product yet.

If not, it will pass away; only to be recorded as a fossil in the book of musical history—victim of a square backlash.

Going Out Of Business

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON

Postmaster General Lawrence O'Brien's radical proposal to do away with the Post Office Department and make it into a non-profit government corporation is getting serious study here. His reason for making the suggestion is that the post office is a money - losing proposition and he feels it should pay its own way.

Art Buchwald

The trouble with the plan is that if it is adopted it opens up a whole can of beans with the other departments of government who are also losing money, and the time may come when every cabinet member will demand that his department be made into a corporation, too.

Let us peek in on a cabinet meeting a few years from today.

"Gentlemen, the President of the United States."

"All right, let's get the meeting under way. We'll hear from the chairman of the board of the Interior."

"I'm happy to announce, Mr. President, that the Interior Corp. is in the black. We had to sell Grand Canyon to do it, but we still have Yellowstone National Park, and by raising the rents on the Indian reservations we should have a banner year."

"VERY GOOD. What about the Labor Corp.?"

"Mr. President, the Labor Corp. is in very good shape. By merging with the Teamsters Union we've been able to do away with our deficit and even invest money in negotiable bonds."

"That's wonderful, Willard! Are we still charging a substantial fee for invoking the Taft-Hartley Act?"

"Yes sir, it's been one of our best money-makers."

"Fine. Now let's hear from the chairman of the Justice Corp."

"Mr. President, I'm happy to say that Justice is holding its own. We lost money on our crime cases, but we showed a profit selling bugging equipment to private companies. We used the surplus to buy a race track outside of Washington and it's doing very well."

"As long as you don't keep it open on Sundays, I guess there's nothing wrong with it. Does the Transportation chairman have anything to report?"

"As you know, Mr. President, we merged with General Motors and we were doing fine until Ralph Nader wrote a sequel to 'Unsafe at Any Speed.' Now car sales are off. We've asked the Justice people to follow Nader, but they say it's no skin off their corporation."

"LET'S HAVE no bickering. Now the Defense Corp. I see from the books that you people lost $50 billion last year. Can we attribute this to faulty management?"

"I know it looks bad on paper, Mr. President, but the Vietnam war just isn't showing a profit. Maybe we shouldn't have gone into it in the first place. If we had to do it all over again I think we should have gotten into a fight with Switzerland."

"Well, if the Defense Corp. can't make a go of it, we're going to have to give it up."

"I have one suggestion, sir, which could get us even."

"What's that?"

"Conrad Hilton wants to buy the Pentagon and rename it the McNamara Hilton."

"Let him put in a bid and we'll consider it. I guess that winds it up for today. Oh, by the way, next week we're meeting at the Shoreham Hotel instead of here."

"How's that, Mr. President?"

"Howard Johnson's has just leased the White House from us at very reasonable terms."

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

I was doing all right with the Oscarevue until that woman strode on stage not knowing her skirt had fallen off, whereupon I excused myself and left the room, as I was taught to do by my mother whenever a member of the opposite sex was having trouble with her clothing.

Someone asked if the weirdo dog at the Twillery that chases birds and airplanes ever caught an airplane. To the best of our knowledge, the answer is No, because we never have smelled aviation fuel on her breath.

It is always interesting to hear other people's views on how they think is the best way to commit suicide. I never have thought of a good way, but the least good way is jumping from a high place. Too much time to wonder on the way down if the trip was necessary.

I think our politicians who say the Vietnam dilemma will not be an issue next year are whistling in the dark. Politicians didn't think the Korean War would be an issue in 1952 either, but it was. Dwight Eisenhower clinched his winning campaign with a promise to stop the fighting.

Every time I buy a suit, which isn't often because I don't mind wearing clothing that is out of style, the fabric is lighter. I am beginning to wonder if the textile industry may not be going too far in its effort to create more comfort by giving us less bulk. I do not want to feel diaphanous.

Baseball: A game in which two grown men in funny outfits stare at each other for a long minute, then one of them throws a ball over the head of the other one, by accident.

I share a conviction with a majority of my fellow citizens who do not bargain collectively for terms of employment that what the country needs is about two weeks each year when everybody so inclinde would go on strike, so everybody not so inclined could know what to count on the rest of the year.

Surely the fastest-growing thing to man, aside from a rumor, must be the dandelions that spring up in a lawn early in April and grow to full maturity in 24 hours.

That special review board which second - guessed the Apollo project couldn't very well have missed fire. Everything that goes wrong with the moon project will be second - guessed — always by people who can speak freely because they will know nothing about something that never has been done before.

Every time I see Margaret Chase Smith, the lady senator from Maine, I wonder if she is as interesting to know as she appears to be in photographs — the kind of woman it would be fun to talk to in an aimless conversation.

Seeing Wendy Hiller on the Oscarama reminded me of something I had almost forgotten — that when Wendy captivated U.S. movie audiences in "Pygmalion," which she had played on the stage in England, she and the lady I go to the movies with were dead ringers for each other, which goes far toward explaining why I thought Wendy was terrific, too.

Odd Facts

Daytona Beach, unlike many Florida resorts, attracts more visitors in summer than in winter. The city is crowded each summer with sportscar enthusiasts who come to watch automobile speed tests and races on a 23-mile sand strip.

Scientists compute that the sun is racing toward the constellation of Hercules at a speed 60 times that of a jet plane traveling 700 miles an hour. The average star is said to travel 25 miles a second, while one reaches a velocity of 680 miles a second.

There are no towns and few villages in Bhutan, mountainous country between India and China. The country's 700,000 people center their lives around Buddhist monasteries, which rise castlelike from the hilltops.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

On April 4, in the city of Chester, the West Virginia state police issued citations to the operator of the bus company, which renders service in Chester and Newell, on charges of failing to have valid West Virginia inspection tags attached to the buses.

As a result, both Chester and Newell are without inter-city service; which means a passenger can be picked up in West Virginia, but cannot be discharged in West Virginia.

Our primary school is located in the central part of Chester. The small children living at the far ends of Chester must now walk too and from school. I have received numerous calls at home as well at my office from parents asking what I can do about this situation. Actually, there isn't a thing I can do at the present time.

I can't disregard a law which has been legislated by the state of West Virginia. Nor can I tell a violator to disregard a citation issued by the West Virginia state police. The operator of this bus system owns four buses with West Virginia registration, which by law must pass inspection each year, the same as a resident who owns a vehicle registered in West Virginia. These buses were purchased from a city in Ohio, where there is no law requiring vehicles to be in good condition.

I own two automobiles, one new car and one old car. For transportation to and from my work I drive my old car. And I am required to have them inspected each year. For example, and I know this to be true, a resident of Chester owned an old car to drive to and from his work. When the car was due for inspection, the cost of repairs would have exceeded the value of the car. The car was traded to a dealer in Ohio for a later model, the old car was then sold to a resident of Ohio on an as-is basis and put back on the highway. It would be well for the Ohio lawmakers to stop this section of Ohio from being the junk yard of the tri-state area.

But getting back to the bus situation, on this same date the owner of the bus company contacted me for a meeting to explain the situation. The time was arranged for 8 p.m. That same day, I had a previous commitment for that time, but canceled it, in order to talk to him. He came to my office around 9 p.m. I could have told him I didn't like to be kept waiting. He informed me this situation was only temporary, he had taken one bus to have it inspected, and it was rejected for many defects. And then failed to bring the other three to the station for inspection.

I have instructed the chairman of my ordinance committee to confer with our city attorneys as to whether the bus owner is in violation of the state code in not giving ample notice to the city that this service was going o be discontinued.

I have arranged for Monday, April 17, at 7:30 p.m. as the date and time for a public hearing. Those to be in attendance include myself, members of Chester Council, city clerk, city attorney, owner of the inspection station, owner of the bus company, state police, members of the press and radio and all interested residents of the Chester and Newell area. This hearing will be held in the Council Chamber of the City Hall in Chester.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Since the fire at Tri-State Lanes last Friday, our mind and heart have been a confused circle of shock, grief, gratitude and appreciation.

Words can never properly express our gratitude to the many volunteer firemen who came to our aid. We understand there were 13 units of firefighting equipment along with the Civil Defense equipment and Martin's ambulance.

Because of the heavy smoke from the burning plastic ceiling and masking units, firemen were under a severe handicap. It took courage to stand on a roof over a fire and chop it away to reach the source, knowing that under you was a highly-explosive material. The firemen who crawled on their hands and knees, with the air packs on to reach the fire surely deserve a "promotion in rank." We feel great skill and courage was displayed by all involved to be able to save the building and keep the damage down as they did.

We appreciate the personal concern and courtesy they gave us individually.

So again many many thanks to all the departments and the Civil Defense unit.

We understand the St. Clair police and the Highway Patrol did an excellent job with the safety and traffic situation. Also WHOI is to be commendd for its coverage.

We wish to thank Rev. Harry Lane and Robert Burlingame, neighbors and witnesses to the fire for their assistance with the firemen.

Our appreciation is unlimited to our many friends, groups of bowlers and the Boy Scout Troops, who have all offered their aid in a "clean-up project". Especially to Kenneth Nichols, who offered the use of truck and highlift to haul away debris. And to our loyal employes who stood by so the bowlers may secure their equipment still in the lockers. And our many, many friends who have called to offer sympathy restore one's faith and thankfulness to be alive.

After being in business for over 30 years, this is our first fire, and to us it was a tragic shock. But we feel the community can rest easier knowing they have such efficient service at hand in case of disaster.

Wanted: Road Improvement

The thousands of district motorists who use Route 68 between the Ohio line and Vanport should gain some encouragement from indications that Pennsylvania highway officials are at least thinking about improving the important traffic link.

State officials have asked for recommendations from Beaver County authorities on the proposed improvement of the road, which would include widening between Vanport and Midland and Midland to East Liverpool and a bypass at Midland.

Route 68 long has failed to meet the demands of the heavy flow of traffic to Midland at peak periods when Crucible Steel Co. employes are traveling to and from work.

The through traffic for years has caused heavy congestion in Midland, and the highway poses special hazards in such locations as Industry, where there are no sidewalks, where there are several dangerous intersections and where it is in great need of repair.

Route 68 will be an even more important link between Ohio and Pennsylvania when the Beaver Valley Expressway is completed. Even now, the highway through Midland carries more vehicles daily than Route 30 and Route 51, the other east-west arteries in the county.

Improvement of Route 68 is vital to the further development of western Beaver County, and highway officials owe the area speedy action on the project to assist full realization of the economic potential of Midland, Industry, Ohioville and the South Side.

Proud Record

The proud record of the Fairview Grange at Pughtown speaks for itself.

Its achievements have been many in meeting its objectives over the years.

The grange now is about to write another notable chapter in its colorful history by observing its 50th anniversary with an afternoon and evening program Saturday.

Deserving are the many "Happy Birthdays" the organization will receive on behalf of the occasion. We at The Review lustily join in the chorus.

Powell's Ticket To Coventry

By an 86 per cent margin, voters in Adam Clayton Powell's congressional district have sent him back to the U.S. House of Representatives.

If that is where they want him to be, that is where he belongs. The lower house of Congress was designed to be directly responsive to voters. They were to think of it as the place where they were represented — the seat of popular government.

Mr. Powell is undoubtedly their overwhelming choice as representative. The House of Representatives may not care for their choice. Certain members of the judicial branch may not care for it. Some people in the executive branch may not care for it. But the people Mr. Powell thinks of as his constituents have convinced their support. They are the only ones who matter.

Members of the House who voted last March 1 to exclude him from membership defied their own senior leadership. They opened a legal issue. They violated the principle that the people of the United States shall be represented by people of their own choice. They acted out of spite, not wisdom.

Their proper procedure, legally sound, would have been to exclude him from those prerogatives that can be bestowed on members of the House by their associates — committee chairmanships and the like.

It would be a one-way ticket to Coventry for Mr. Powell, who would not like the trip.

His constituents have the right to send him to Congress, but his colleagues have the right to send him to Coventry. It would all be perfectly legal, perfectly constitutional, even perfectly political.

We feel great skill and courage was displayed by all involved to be able to save the building and keep the damage down as they did.

We appreciate the personal concern and courtesy they gave us individually.

So again many many thanks to all the departments and the Civil Defense unit.

We understand the St. Clair police and the Highway Patrol did an excellent job with the safety and traffic situation. Also WHOT is to be commendd for its coverage.

We wish to thank Rev. Harry Lane and Robert Burlingame, neighbors and witnesses to the fire for their assistance with the firemen.

Our appreciation is unlimited to our many friends, groups of bowlers and the Boy Scout Troops, who have all offered their aid in a "clean-up project". Especially to Kenneth Nicholls, who offered the use of truck and highlift to haul away debris. And to our loyal employes who stood by so the bowlers may secure their equipment still in the lockers. And our many, many friends who have called to offer sympathy restore one's faith and thankfulness to be alive.

After being in business for over 30 years, this is our first fire, and to us it was a tragic shock. But we feel the community can rest easier knowing they have such efficient service at hand in case of disaster.

Ginseng Source Sought In Letter From Hong Kong

The East Liverpool Area Chamber of Commerce received one of its most unusual inquiries Wednesday — a letter from a Chinese merchant in Hong Kong seeking sources from which to purchase ginseng — a plant highly - valued for its medicinal properties in the Orient.

The query came from Ting F. Lee of Post Office Box 2292, Hong Kong. After describing the wild herb, he added: "It is usually found in the shaded, damp woodlands, often in valleys and under stands of big timber." Lee added that he is aware mountaineers and trappers once collected the herb, but he said he expects most of them "are gone since industries have provided employment and economic stability."

E. R. Chandler, executive manager of the Chamber and a widely - known naturalist, commented that ginseng has become "very rare" in Eastern Ohio and nearby parts of West Virginia. He said he will turn over the Hong Kong letter to the West Virginia Department of Commerce in Charleston, as ginseng still is collected in the Mountain State's hill country.

Food Stamp Report Given

LISBON — Columbiana County residents bought $17,696 worth of food stamps during March and received free bonus stamps worth $9,022.

The $26,718 total is the largest since the U. S. Department of Agriculture's food coupon program was initiated in Columbiana County in December, according to Donald P. Hepp, county welfare director.

Monthly totals of purchased and free stamps were $25,655 in December, $22,478 in January and $23,762 in February.

The value of stamps purchased last month by eligible families was $17,696 or nearly $2,000 more than the previous high of $15,707 in February.

Wilbur Warren, food stamp program administrator, said the program is growing. He said 548 families with 1,564 persons were certified to purchase stamps last month and nearly 90 per cent —462 families with 1,407 persons —participated.

Warren said family heads not presently certified to buy the food stamps should contact him at the county welfare building of E. Washington St., Lisbon, to see if they qualify.

He said he is sure many families do qualify by reason of low income, size of family and other conditions, but the problem is getting them to apply.

Anyone interested in the program may get details from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. daily Monday through Friday at the welfare office.

Ginseng Source Sought In Letter From Hong Kong

The East Liverpool Area Chamber of Commerce received one of its most unusual inquiries Wednesday — a letter from a Chinese merchant in Hong Kong seeking sources from which to purchase ginseng — a plant highly - valued for its medicinal properties in the Orient.

The query came from Ting F. Lee of Post Office Box 2292, Hong Kong. After describing the wild herb, he added: "It is usually found in the shaded, damp woodlands, often in valleys and under stands of big timber." Lee added that he is aware mountaineers and trappers once collected the herb, but he said he expects most of them "are gone since industries have provided employment and economic stability."

E. R. Chandler, executive manager of the Chamber and a widely - known naturalist, commented that ginseng has become "very rare" in Eastern Ohio and nearby parts of West Virginia. He said he will turn over the Hong Kong letter to the West Virginia Department of Commerce in Charleston, as ginseng still is collected in the Mountain State's hill country.

$37.9 Million Price Tag

Pennsylvania House OKs Fund For Capitol Wing

By JOHN L. TAYLOR

HARRISBURG (AP) — The House has given its overwhelming approval to the $37.9 million price tag on the proposed construction of an executive east wing to the State Capitol Building.

A bill raising the authorization from an original $21.3 million was passed by the House on a vote of 192-9 Wednesday and sent to the Senate. Eight Republicans and one Democrat were the opponents.

The executive wing would house offices of the governor and other state officials, thus providing more office space in the Capitol for the legislature.

In 1965, the legislature authorized the General State Authority to sepnd $21.3 million, but, in the interim, the scope of the project was broadened to include such items as centrail air conditioning, expanded parking facilities and renovation of the Capitol.

In other action, the House, meeting in solo session, unanimously passed a bill to strengthen current law regarding fish kills. Under the measure, the Fish Commission could bring legal action to recover the value of fish killed by pollution.

"This bill will add another legal weapon to the state's arsenal for dealing with pollutors," said Rep. Franklin Kury, D-Northumberland, chief sponsor of the measure "It should have a strong deterrent effect on companies...which have caused great fish kills to prevent recurrences"

The House also approved a bill, over Republican objections, to allow the transfer of liquor licenses from one municipality to another. The vote was 119-77, with 75 Republicans and two Democrats opposing.

Proponents said the measure was aimed at helping establishments displaced by urban renewal or highway projects to relocate. If unable to find a suitable place within the municipality, a club or restaurant could move to another municipality within the county.

Opponents argued that the bill would disrupt the quota system whereby the Liquor Control Board limits the licenses on the basis of population. Among the Republicans who voted against the bill was House Speaker Kenneth B. Lee, R-Sullivan.

Gov. Shafer's proposal that the federal government share its tax revenues with the states was released from the House Rules Committee.

The proposal, in the form of a resolution, would petition Congress to call a constitutional convention at which a tax sharing amendment would be drafted.

Shafer has maintained that the federal government, through its graduated income tax, receives more than its share of the tax dollar, forcing the states to ask for handouts from Washington.

Among the numerous bills introduced prior to the House's joining the Senate in recess was one which would stiffen the penalty against armed felons.

The measure would lengthen from 5 to 10 years the imprisonment of a person convicted of an act of violence in possession of a deadly weapon.

Rep. James J. Gallen, R-Berks chief sponsor, said the bill was prompted by the fatal shooting of a police chief during a bank holdup near Elizabethtown, Lancaster County, last Friday. Eighty members from both sides of the aisle joined in co-sponsorship.

LISBON — Three new projects have been added to the 4-H program for 1967, according to Robert Lewis, Columbiana County extension agent for 4-H.

Lois Deneke, Ohio State University extension specialist in home management, wrote the material for "Helping at Home."

Dick Smith, state extension specialist in animal science, developed the new project book dealing with raising a calf.

$37.9 Million Price Tag

Pennsylvania House OKs Fund For Capitol Wing

By JOHN L. TAYLOR

HARRISBURG (AP) — The House has given its overwhelming approval to the $37.9 million price tag on the proposed construction of an executive east wing to the State Capitol Building.

A bill raising the authorization from an original $21.3 million was passed by the House on a vote of 192-9 Wednesday and sent to the Senate. Eight Republicans and one Democrat were the opponents.

The executive wing would house offices of the governor and other state officials, thus providing more office space in the Capitol for the legislature.

In 1965, the legislature authorized the General State Authority to sepnd $21.3 million, but, in the interim, the scope of the project was broadened to include such items as centrail air conditioning, expanded parking facilities and renovation of the Capitol.

In other action, the House, meeting in solo session, unanimously passed a bill to strengthen current law regarding fish kills. Under the measure, the Fish Commission could bring legal action to recover the value of fish killed by pollution.

"This bill will add another legal weapon to the state's arsenal for dealing with pollutors," said Rep. Franklin Kury, D-Northumberland, chief sponsor of the measure "It should have a strong deterrent effect on companies...which have caused great fish kills to prevent recurrences."

The House also approved a bill, over Republican objections, to allow the transfer of liquor licenses from one municipality to another. The vote was 119-77, with 75 Republicans and two Democrats opposing.

Proponents said the measure was aimed at helping establishments displaced by urban renewal or highway projects to relocate. If unable to find a suitable place within the municipality, a club or restaurant could move to another municipality within the county.

Opponents argued that the bill would disrupt the quota system whereby the Liquor Control Board limits the licenses on the basis of population. Among the Republicans who voted against the bill was House Speaker Kenneth B. Lee, R-Sullivan.

Gov. Shafer's proposal that the federal government share its tax revenues with the states was released from the House Rules Committee.

The proposal, in the form of a resolution, would petition Congress to call a constitutional convention at which a tax sharing amendment would be drafted.

Shafer has maintained that the federal government, through its graduated income tax, receives more than its share of the tax dollar, forcing the states to ask for handouts from Washington.

Among the numerous bills introduced prior to the House's joining the Senate in recess was one which would stiffen the penalty against armed felons.

The measure would lengthen from 5 to 10 years the imprisonment of a person convicted of an act of violence in possession of a deadly weapon.

Rep. James J. Gallen, R-Berks chief sponsor, said the bill was prompted by the fatal shooting of a police chief during a bank holdup near Elizabethtown, Lancaster County, last Friday. Eighty members from both sides of the aisle joined in co-sponsorship.

Perry Sewer Plan Detailed

SALEM — Approximately 60 met at Salem Memorial Building Wednesday night to hear a discussion of the sanitary sewer system and plant proposed for a Perry Township area northeast of Salem.

William McKenna of W. E. Quicksall & Associates, New Philadelphia, was the principal speaker. The Quicksall firm made the preliminary study.

McKenna was accompanied by County Engineer John Ursu of Salem, Sharon Quigley of East Liverpool, an employe of the county engineer, and County Commissioner Charles J. Gause of Hanoverton R. D. 1.

Ursu said a show - of - hand vote after the discussion indicated approximately one - half those attending were in favor of the project. Some said they did not see any need for the system, Ursu said, while others thought they could get a better rate by annexation to the city of Salem.

Approximately 32,820 feet of sewer lines are proposed. They would lead to an aerobic digestion type treatment plant on the east side of Egypt Rd.

The estimated cost of the entire project is $446,100. McKenna said the individual costs are based on 185 residences and the cost per home would decrease as more homes are built in the area.

Based on 185 homes, the average yearly cost per home would be $146 if the area assumes the project itself. However, if grant money is obtained, the average yearly cost per user would be $93 — still based on the 185 homes.

Copies of the engineer's report will be prepared and left at the Township House for interested residents.

Perry Sewer Plan Detailed

SALEM — Approximately 60 met at Salem Memorial Building Wednesday night to hear a discussion of the sanitary sewer system and plant proposed for a Perry Township area northeast of Salem.

William McKenna of W. E. Quicksall & Associates, New Philadelphia, was the principal speaker. The Quicksall firm made the preliminary study.

McKenna was accompanied by County Engineer John Ursu of Salem, Sharon Quigley of East Liverpool, an employe of the county engineer, and County Commissioner Charles J. Cause of Hanoverton R. D. 1.

Ursu said a show - of - hand vote after the discussion indicated approximately one - half those attending were in favor of the project. Some said they did not see any need for the system, Ursu said, while others thought they could get a better rate by annexation to the city of Salem.

Approximately 32,820 feet of sewer lines are proposed. They would lead to an aerobic digestion type treatment plant on the east side of Egypt Rd.

The estimated cost of the entire project is $446,100. McKenna said the individual costs are based on 185 residences and the cost per home would decrease as more homes are built in the area.

Based on 185 homes, the average yearly cost per home would be $146 if the area assumes the project itself. However, if grant money is obtained, the average yearly cost per user would be $93 — still based on the 185 homes.

Midland Council Buys Vehicle, Airs By-Pass

Midland Council Wednesday night awarded a contract for a pickup truck, discussed proposed plans for a Route 68 by-pass and heard reports on water project improvements.

A $3,655 bid on a ¾ ton pickup truck for the borough was awarded to Migliore Ford Sales.

The original cost of $3,955 for the vehicle was reduced by $300 for the trade-in of a used pickup truck.

The only other bid was by Midland Auto Sales for $3,936.55, less an allowance of $236.55, for a total of $3,700. The bids were checked by a representative of Michael Baker Jr., Inc., borough engineer, and Atty. Frank Suffoletta, solicitor, to determine if they met specifications.

Councilman Raymond Presutti asked Mayor Eli G. Corak if the proposed Midland bypass would affect homes at the west end of Midland at the Springlane area.

Mayor Corak said the highway engineers have proposed a 4-lane highway parallel to the Pennsylvania Railroad but the project does not call for removal of any homes at the West end of Midland. He said there never was any official plan to remove homes in the area.

PRESUTTI said heavy dust is once again plaguing the Springlane area since Brown Brothers Slag Co. is having trouble with water pressure and have not been able to wet the slag adequately when it is crushed.

Albaugh said the Crucible maintenance department has been working with Brown Brothers for one and one-half weeks and have found that some pipes are blocked with rust. He said high pressure air will be forced through the pipes to open them up, but if this plan fails, new water pipes will be laid.

Rudolph Presutti, chairman of the Midland Municipal Authority, announced that bids will be opened May 1 on the water distribution system expansion planned for Midland. He said one-half of the cost of $342,000 project will be carried by an EDA grant of $171,000 received some months ago.

He said the project calls for construction of two new reservoirs, and new lines, including a new 8-inch line into Crucible. He said this should prove of assistance to Brown Brothers.

He added that the project was only made possible through the efforts of Mayor Corak, the solicitor, the engineer, and Congressman Frank Clark, who worked to secure the federal grant.

A representative of the engineering firm said the incinerator plans have received approval from the Pennsylvania Department of Health and a permit is now awaited before construction can begin.

He said the engineering firm is also supervising work being done by Crucible on a Bell Telephone Co. duct line from Woodlane to the Crucible office on 8th St.

Midland Council Buys Vehicle, Airs By-Pass

Midland Council Wednesday night awarded a contract for a pickup truck, discussed proposed plans for a Route 68 by-pass and heard reports on water project improvements.

A $3,655 bid on a ¾ ton pickup truck for the borough was awarded to Migliore Ford Sales.

The original cost of $3,955 for the vehicle was reduced by $300 for the trade-in of a used pickup truck.

The only other bid was by Midland Auto Sales for $3,936.55, less an allowance of $236.55, for a total of $3,700. The bids were checked by a representative of Michael Baker Jr., Inc., borough engineer, and Atty. Frank Suffoletta, solicitor, to determine if they met specifications.

Councilman Raymond Presutti asked Mayor Eli G. Corak if the proposed Midland bypass would affect homes at the west end of Midland at the Springlane area.

Mayor Corak said the highway engineers have proposed a 4-lane highway parallel to the Pennsylvania Railroad but the project does not call for removal of any homes at the West end of Midland. He said there never was any official plan to remove homes in the area.

PRESUTTI said heavy dust is once again plaguing the Springlane area since Brown Brothers Slag Co. is having trouble with water pressure and have not been able to wet the slag adequately when it is crushed.

Albaugh said the Crucible maintenance department has been working with Brown Brothers for one and one-half weeks and have found that some pipes are blocked with rust. He said high pressure air will be forced through the pipes to open them up, but if this plan fails, new water pipes will be laid.

Rudolph Presutti, chairman of the Midland Municipal Authority, announced that bids will be opened May 1 on the water distribution system expansion planned for Midland. He said one-half of the cost of $342,000 project will be carried by an EDA grant of $171,000 received some months ago.

He said the project calls for construction of two new reservoirs, and new lines, including a new 8-inch line into Crucible. He said this should prove of assistance to Brown Brothers.

He added that the project was only made possible through the efforts of Mayor Corak, the solicitor, the engineer, and Congressman Frank Clark, who worked to secure the federal grant.

A representative of the engineering firm said the incinerator plans have received approval from the Pennsylvania Department of Health and a permit is now awaited before construction can begin.

He said the engineering firm is also supervising work being done by Crucible on a Bell Telephone Co. duct line from Woodlane to the Crucible office on 8th St.

IT WAS announced the State Highway Department has been taking test borings on Route 68 near the old incinerator.

Mayor Corak suggested Council instruct the borough engineer to procede with drawing up specifications for the borough's new tennis courts to be located at 13th St. and Midland Ave.

Council authorized Mayor Corak to contact the owners of two building eyesores in the community and suggest they permit the borough to demolish the buildings and then repay the borough for the work.

Vinovich, chairman of the Veterans swimming pool committee, said Granito and his crews are preparing the pool for opening.

The traffic committee will check into complaints that loud motorbikes and excessive speeding has been bothering residents at the east end of Midland.

The Beaver County Planning and Zoning Commission extended an invitation to Council and the public to attend a regular meeting May 10 at the Beaver County Home and Hospital.

Ambridge coach Chuck DiVenzio addressed thanks to the Midland Borough Council for congratulations received by them when Ambridge won the state basketball championship.

A letter was received from the Commonwealth's Department of Justice stating that during a recent inspection, the Midland Jail was found to conform with standards of the Department. The communication was signed by the dirctor of jail inspection.

COUNCIL adopted a resolution to file a quit claim of property deeded to the Borough by the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. The property, located off Delaware Ave. at the northern part of Midland, was deeded to Midland to be used for a park or recreation with the stipulation it be returned to Crucible if not used for this purpose. The deed of quit claim was directed to the Midland Municipal Authority for the purpose of erecting a 1.5 million gallon reservoir as part of the water expansion project now underway. The resolution also provided for a 40-foot roadway easement.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN HORN

It's An Ill Wind

With the AFTRA strike keeping newsmen, announcers, and actors from their regularly appointed rounds, the spirit of amateurism arose again during that period on the nation's television channels.

Some of the amateurs, it must be noted, have more than a touch of professionalism. Jeffrey Gralnick and Arnold Zenker, subbing for Joseph Benti, Douglas Edwards and Walter Cronkite on CBS, have a young old-pro attitude and performance. They could be on-camera talent, strike or no strike.

BUT THE NEW darling of viewers in New York City is a weathercaster for NBC's Channel 4 who would rather be the off-camera executive producer of children's programming.

That's what George Heinemann is in normal times. The strike pushed him in front of the cameras, where he still was not comfortable even after a week.

He grimaces. He confesses that he has to ad lib the weather else he'd be hopelessly confused at the signals given him behind scenes. He points vaguely to the map beyond the Mississippi River and tells New Yorkers, "It gives me something to talk about."

-:-

HE IS CANDID about knowing nothing — and caring less — about the technical details of the weather. He shrugs his shoulders at mistakes and laughs at his own bumbling.

He is bald, middle-aged, stout and has a sense of humor you hope you'd have thrust into such an unusual situation.

He already has a fan club of devoted fans who know they wouldn't do better but probably a lot worse. He has an Ed Sullivan appeal. A new star of the future has arrived — George Heinemann.

-:-

FOR ONE WEEK in mid-March, all of television's special events appeared to be produced by Edward Pierce:

A FILMED "American Sportsman" tiger hunt in India with actor Craig Stevens and the Maharajah of Bundi.

THE RINGLING BROS., Barnum & Bailey Cricus, taped at Greensboro, N.C.

Pierce, a field-producer veteran of "Wide, Wide World," NBC's roaming-camera reality spectacular series of the 1950s, has indicated other projects, past and future, that gave him claim to the title of most-active remote producer in television.

HE BEGAN the year with the Orange Bowl Parade in Miami. The India show doesn't count. He said the program was shot 22 months ago just before the monsoon season.

Immediately ahead are three projects, all taking place in Miami Beach.

First is the Inercollegiate Jazz Festival May 3-6. The event, to which Pierce has TV right, will be covered by his production crew and offered to advertising agencies and networks.

Then May 20 the producer will stage the Miss U.S.A. Beauty Pageant and July 15 its international big sister, the Miss Universe Beauty Pageant.

AFTER THAT, all that is currently on the Pierce agenda is the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade, which he has done for NBC for the last eight years.

Once an NBC employe, from production assistant to producer, he has been a free lance for six years, the first 2½ as owner of a racing stable of horses — his colors: Persimmon, black and white — with TV interruption only by the Macy's Parade, work he always needed for the winter feed bill.

Racing was a losing proposition, he learned about as chancey as a nine-horse parlay.

"I went stone broke racing horses," he said. "I wanted to prove I was stupid."

-:-

SO BACK he went to television remotes, his specialty such "Wide, Wide World" coverage as the San Francisco Ballet at the Golden Gate Bridge, Army maneuvers in Oklahoma and the New Orleans story.

A friend asked recently: "Do you ever do a show that doesn't have a cast of thousands?" He does. Among them, the old Jan Murray show.

Before and after World War II, three years of which he spent in the Army, Pierce was senior member of the dance team of Pierce & Roland. He doesn't dance for pay or fun nowadays, never has trod the light fantastic with his wife, but claims the twinkle-toes show business experience was invaluable for TV.

At 175, he's 30 pounds over his ideal waltz-and-tango weight.

Fate Of Lasket Still With Jury

CINCINNATI (AP) — The fate of Posteal Laskey Jr., 29, accused of killing a secretary, remained in the hands of a jury today as it continued deliberating testimony from his 13-day murder trial.

The jury of six men and six women, which got the case at 12:12 p.m. Wednesday, retired early Wednesday night after the death of a sister of one of the jurors.

The jurors were sequestered overnight in a hotel, and Judge Simon L. Leis ordered them to resume deliberations at 9 a.m.

Laskey, a laborer and weekend jazz musician in a combo, is accused of the death of Miss Barbara Bowman, 31, fatally stabbed on a street near her home last Aug. 14.

Bonn Failing In Agreement To Buy U.S. Military Goods

WASHINGTON (AP) — With time running out, West Germany still is well short of fulfilling a two-year agreement to buy $1.35 billion in American military goods and services to offset the cost of maintaining U.S. troops in that country.

Government sources said today West Germany is about $350,000 short of meeting its obligations under the agreement, which expires June 30.

The Pentagon said, however, "The German government has indicated that it intends to fulfill its commitment."

The Defense Department refused to provide an official figure on the amount West Germany still must commit to meet its obligation.

"This information is classified at German request," a Pentagon spokesman said. Normally, military security is the major consideration in classifying information. Defense officials acknowledged there is no security question involved in withholding the West German purchase figures.

West German slowness in meeting the commitment has been a cause of past friction.

Sources said the actions already taken by the West Germans come to a bit more than $1 billion and include not only purchases of goods and services but also buying of U.S. Treasury securities and repayment of debts.

A new arrangement covering a period beyond June 30 is being negotiated. Bound up in these talks is the matter of the size of the U.S. garrison in West Germany.

There are reliable reports that U.S. troops there, now totaling some 225,000, may be reduced by about 30,000 men.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff believe there is no military reason for cutting the garrison in the absence of any Soviet agreement to reduce forces on the Communist side of the Iron Curtain.

Military authorities said the impetus for any reduction of troop strength in West Germany comes from the civilian side of the U.S. government.

Cincinnati Policemen Won't Be In Movie

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati policemen won't get to appear in an unnamed movie for which Columbia Pictures has expressed interest in using the city and its police force as background.

Police Chief Jacob Schott said Wednesday he and Safety Director Henry Sandman "decided, after reading the script, that certain aspects of the proposed film were too controversial."

U.S. Steel Hikes Price On 2 Items

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The steel industry used to push through price boosts with a sledge hammer. Now, it does it with light taps.

U.S. Steel Corp. did some tapping Wednesday, marking up prices on odd-sized structural steel sections and sheet pilings.

The increase covers only a small part of the company's output; and will bring in an estimated $4.5 million a year.

The government has not commented on the action.

U.S. Steel is the nation's biggest steelmaker. Its influence on prices is considerable.

If past patterns prevail, other producers will follow the lead if U.S. Steel can make the hike stick in the marketplace.

So far, none has indicated it would. But this could change in a few days.

Burns Prove Fatal

CINCINNATI (AP)—Fire in her home last week, blamed on careless smoking, claimed the life of Mrs. Elizabeth Mullane, 58, Cincinnati. Burned over 30 per cent of her body, she died Tuesday night.

Cleveland Milk Hearing Opens For 17 Districts

CLEVELAND (AP)— From 17 milk marketing districts in six states dairy farmers, milk dealers and other interested parties met in a downtown hotel today for a public hearing on the price paid producers for fluid milk.

A. U. S. Department of Agriculture examiner from Washington, Jack Bain, was scheduled to preside while marketing specialists from the department listened to evidence.

But no decision on price will be made here. The U. S. secretary of agriculture will rule on that later in Washington.

The price of Class I or fluid milk paid dairy farmers under federal milk marketing orders in the districts varies. But all the prices are about $1 a hundredweight too low, the National Farmers Organization maintains.

Within the last few weeks the NFO held out milk shipments, dumped thousands of gallons of milk, sold dairy cows for slaughter and took other measures to enforce its demand for a two-cent-a-quart increase in milk prices.

Sam Maylone, finance officer, said new colors have been ordered.

It's An Ill Wind

With the AFTRA strike keeping newsmen, announcers, and actors from their regularly appointed rounds, the spirit of amateurism arose again during that period on the nation's television channels.

Some of the amateurs, it must be noted, have more than a touch of professionalism. Jeffrey Gralnick and Arnold Zenker, subbing for Joseph Benti, Douglas Edwards and Walter Cronkite on CBS, have a young old-pro attitude and performance. They could be on-camera talent, strike or no strike.

-:-

BUT THE NEW darling of viewers in New York City is a weathercaster for NBC's Channel 4 who would rather be the off-camera executive producer of children's programming.

That's what George Heinemann is in normal times. The strike pushed him in front of the cameras, where he still was not comfortable even after a week.

He grimaces. He confesses that he has to ad lib the weather else he'd be hopelessly confused at the signals given him behind scenes. He points vaguely to the map beyond the Mississippi River and tells New Yorkers, "It gives me something to talk about."

-:-

HE IS CANDID about knowing nothing — and caring less — about the technical details of the weather. He shrugs his shoulders at mistakes and laughs at his own bumbling.

He is bald, middle-aged, stout and has a sense of humor you hope you'd have thrust into such an unusual situation.

He already has a fan club of devoted fans who know they wouldn't do better but probably a lot worse. He has an Ed Sullivan appeal. A new star of the future has arrived — George Heinemann.

-:-

FOR ONE WEEK in mid-March, all of television's special events appeared to be produced by Edward Pierce:

A FILMED "American Sportsman" tiger hunt in India with actor Craig Stevens and the Maharajah of Bundi.

A JUNIOR MISS Beauty Pageant, live from Mobile, Ala.

THE RINGLING BROS., Barnum & Bailey Cricus, taped at Greensboro, N.C.

Pierce, a field-producer veteran of "Wide, Wide World," NBC's roaming-camera reality spectacular series of the 1950s, has indicated other projects, past and future, that gave him claim to the title of most-active remote producer in television.

HE BEGAN the year with the Orange Bowl Parade in Miami. The India show doesn't count. He said the program was shot 22 months ago just before the monsoon season.

Immediately ahead are three projects, all taking place in Miami Beach.

First is the Intercollegiate Jazz Festival May 3-6. The event, to which Pierce has TV right, will be covered by his production crew and offered to advertising agencies and networks.

Then May 20 the producer will stage the Miss U.S.A. Beauty Pageant and July 15 its international big sister, the Miss Universe Beauty Pageant.

AFTER THAT, all that is currently on the Pierce agenda is the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade, which he has done for NBC for the last eight years.

Once an NBC employe, from production assistant to producer, he has been a free lance for six years, the first 2½ as owner of a racing stable of horses — his colors: Persimmon, black and white — with TV interruption only by the Macy's Parade, work he always needed for the winter feed bill.

Racing was a losing proposition, he learned about as chancey as a nine-horse parlay.

"I went stone broke racing horses," he said. "I wanted to prove I was stupid."

-:-

SO BACK he went to television remotes, his specialty such "Wide, Wide World" coverage as the San Francisco Ballet at the Golden Gate Bridge, Army maneuvers in Oklahoma and the New Orleans story.

A friend asked recently: "Do you ever do a show that doesn't have a cast of thousands?" He does. Among them, the old Jan Murray show.

Before and after World War II, three years of which he spent in the Army, Pierce was senior member of the dance team of Pierce & Roland. He doesn't dance for pay or fun nowadays, never has trod the light fantastic with his wife, but claims the twinkle-toes show business experience was invaluable for TV.

At 175, he's 30 pounds over his ideal waltz-and-tango weight.

Fate Of Lasket Still With Jury

CINCINNATI (AP) — The fate of Posteal Laskey Jr., 29, accused of killing a secretary, remained in the hands of a jury today as it continued deliberating testimony from his 13-day murder trial.

The jury of six men and six women, which got the case at 12:12 p.m. Wednesday, retired early Wednesday night after the death of a sister of one of the jurors.

The jurors were sequestered overnight in a hotel, and Judge Simon L. Leis ordered them to resume deliberations at 9 a.m.

Laskey, a laborer and weekend jazz musician in a combo, is accused of the death of Miss Barbara Bowman, 31, fatally stabbed on a street near her home last Aug. 14.

Bonn Failing In Agreement To Buy U.S. Military Goods

WASHINGTON (AP) — With time running out, West Germany still is well short of fulfilling a two-year agreement to buy $1.35 billion in American military goods and services to offset the cost of maintaining U.S. troops in that country.

Government sources said today West Germany is about $350,000 short of meeting its obligations under the agreement, which expires June 30.

The Pentagon said, however, "The German government has indicated that it intends to fulfill its commitment."

The Defense Department refused to provide an official figure on the amount West Germany still must commit to meet its obligation.

"This information is classified at German request," a Pentagon spokesman said. Normally, military security is the major consideration in classifying information. Defense officials acknowledged there is no security question involved in withholding the West German purchase figures.

West German slowness in meeting the commitment has been a cause of past friction.

Sources said the actions already taken by the West Germans come to a bit more than $1 billion and include not only purchases of goods and services but also buying of U.S. Treasury securities and repayment of debts.

A new arrangement covering a period beyond June 30 is being negotiated. Bound up in these talks is the matter of the size of the U.S. garrison in West Germany.

There are reliable reports that U.S. troops there, now totaling some 225,000, may be reduced by about 30,000 men.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff believe there is no military reason for cutting the garrison in the absence of any Soviet agreement to reduce forces on the Communist side of the Iron Curtain.

Military authorities said the impetus for any reduction of troop strength in West Germany comes from the civilian side of the U.S. government.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I felt sorry for the young woman whose house was a mess and company dropped in unexpectedly just as she was trying to get a new baby ready for bed.

Her husband mumbled something to the guests about how awful the place looked and ended up saying, "My wife hasn't cleaned the house since the baby came."

I agree that the husband should not have said this, but it seems to me too much emphasis is placed on the looks of the house these days and not enough is said about warmhearted hospitality.

I, for one, feel greatly flattered when unexpected company drops in. I couldn't care less about the hour or the looks of the house. I love people and I figure they are real friends if they feel they can come by without a formal invitation. Do you agree with me, Ann — OPEN DOOR, OPEN HEART.

-:-

Dear Open Open: No, I do not. But I'll get back to you later. For now here is a letter from a woman who does agree with you.

Sign Painting

Dear Ann: I was upset with your reply to the husband who apologized for the looks of their apartment when unexpected guests dropped in. You said the guests should apologize, since they were the ones who barged in.

Our home is open to anyone and everyone who wishes to enter. I make no pretense of being the world's greatest housekeeper. I happen to like people better than I like cleaning house.

Several years ago we had a sign printed. I placed this sign in our entrance way. It reads: "Although you will find the house a mess, please come in and enjoy yourself. The place doesn't always look like this. Some days it's worse." — EDITH C.

Dear Edith: Thanks for letting us know how it is at your house. And now I will respond to both you and the writer of the first letter.

If you believe an open door means an open heart, you also must believe a closed door means a closed heart. This I feel is unjust. More often than not a closed door simply means, "I'm busy."

Since you shared your sign with me, I would like to share one with you. A writer who lives in Michigan told me about it several years ago. It was nailed to the door of his home and read: "If you are uninvited and unexpected you are also unwelcome. Please go away and let me do my work."

I agree with the wit who said, "The most difficult thing about leisure time is to keep people from using yours."

Dear Ann: Remember the letter from the girl whose Navy boy friend got himself transferred to another part of the world when he learned she was pregnant.

She advised all girls whose steadies want to play house to ask them to sign a paper saying they had slept together on such and such a night. This, she said, would do wonders to diminish (if not kill) the sex drive.

When our daughter turned 16 her father gave her this advice: "If a boy asks you to go the limit to prove your love, tell him he'll have to speak to your father because your father is responsible for you as long as you live under his roof."

Our daughter followed his instructions and said it produced the most shocked expressions she had ever seen.—MRS. J.

Dear Mrs. J.: I'm not surprised. If there's anything a guy doesn't want to be reminded of at a time like that it's a girl's father.

---

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise; Pure lemon extract will remove the ink stamped prices on products. Use it straight as it comes from the bottled.

I learned this when I saw my grocer remove ink that is used to stamp prices on products.

There are several members of our family who work in offices and this is the only way we have ever found to remove ink that we thought was permanent.

MRS. PAUL TEMPLE.

Well, I could hardly wait to get to the kitchen to try this. I didn't have any lemon extract, so I used pure orange extract. All I did was pour a drop of it on a purple ink mark! After about five seconds, I wiped it with a paper napkin and it came off slick as a whistle.

And how can we thank Mrs. Temple enough?

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Why not plant a few extra flower bulbs in cans or flower pots when you do your flower planting?

You can enjoy these at home inside the house or when the plant blooms you would be ready with a lovely gift for an ill friend or loved one. It would mean more because you grew it yourself.

I planted tulips and hyacinths for this very purpose, and wrapped the pot with foil and ribbon just like the florists.

MRS. DELBERT FUTRELL.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a suggestion for bird lovers:

At nesting time, the lint from clothes dryers can be placed outside and within minutes it vanishes.

The birds use the lint to secure and line their nest.

MRS. ROY HASSEN.

LETTER OF THOUGHT

DEAR HELOISE: I want to pass on a tried and true recipe for treasured and happy memories:

Go on family jaunts regularly; but as often as you can, jaunt with each child individually.

Warmth, confidence and love are stimulated by this privacy and companionship and it's something that can never be taken away.

How I cherish those memories.

GRANDMOTHER.

DEAR HELOISE: If your guests don't eat all that beautiful molded gelatin salad or dessert, or if it has collapsed into an unappetizing looking mess . . . never mind.

Just slide it into a stew pan and set it over very low heat until it barely begins to melt.

Leave big chunks unmelted as they will merge with the part which has already melted. Pour it back into another mold and refrigerate.

It will all congeal again and be ready to serve at your next meal.

HARRIET RUPERT.

2 NBA Stars To Play In Classic

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Gus Johnson, Ray Scott Of Bullets To Appear

GUS JOHNSON
Baltimore's Leading Scorer Set For Classic.

Two standouts of the National Basketball Association have been added to the already star-studded cast of players who will appear in the Ohio Valley Basketball Classic Friday and Saturday nights at the Midland High gym.

From the Baltimore Bullets of the NBA will be Gus Johnson, the 6-6 Akron native, and teammate Ray Scott, a 6-9 regular, who will perform for Luckino's Barbershop of Midland in the two-day event.

THE NBA stars will appear both nights. Johnson, who starred at Akron Central High School as did Nate Thurmond, a star with the San Francisco Warriors, led the Bullets in scoring this past season with a 20.7 average and was Baltimore's No. 2 rebounder.

Johnson is regarded in the NBA as one of the top 10 forwards in the league. During the 1965-66 season, Johnson was voted to the NBA's second All-Star team despite the fact he was injured and only played half the season.

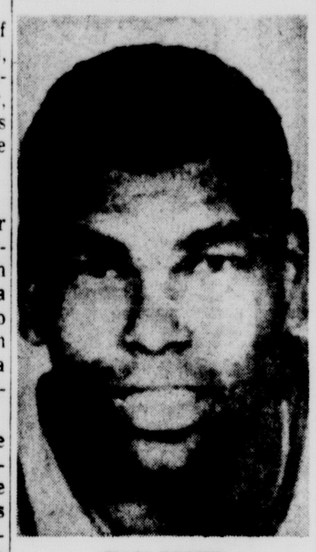
SCOTT was the fourth top scorer for the Bullets last season and is a six-year veteran of NBA play. He was a member of the Detroit Pistons until traded during the season. He finished as the No. 3 rebounder for Baltimore.

Scott is rated a fine cornerman and averaged 16.3 points a game for the season. He played his college basketball at Portland University.



RAY SCOTT
6-Year Veteran of NBA.

Co-chairman Bob Wycoff contacted both players and was assured they will appear for the Classic.

—:—

JOHNSON AND Scott will be joined on Luckino's Barbers by Kenny Nevels, 6-2, and Henry Hughes, 6-5, who performed in the Mid - West Professional League this past season.

Also with the Midland entry are Red Jones, the Little All-American from Youngstown University and Mickey Yugovich, 6-4, also of Youngstown.

Luckino's will face Johnson's Pontiac in the second game Friday night about 9 following the opener between Hot Dog Shoppe and Patterson Industries.

—:—

IF LUCKINO'S and Hot Dog Shoppe should survive Friday night's first round, a possible match could develop between Johnson and Connie Hawkins, the 6-9 former Globetrotter, in the championship game.

Hawkins, a real crowd pleaser in last year's classic held at East Liverpool, has been compared in playing ability by some coaches to Wilt Chamberlain of the Philadelphia 76ers.

Luckino's meet Johnson's which will feature a group of small-college All-Americans.

THE HOT Dog Shoppe with Hawkins, Jim and Julius McCoy, Willie Somerset, Walt Mangham, Ed Fleming and Sid Cohen will meet Patterson Industries which shows Canisius College of Buffalo, N. Y., a highly regarded major college independent team this past season. Somerset will be able to play with the Hot Dog Shoppe both nights, it was announced earlier he would be available only for Saturday's game.

Prize money will be awarded with the championship team receiving $400 while the runnerup will be given $300. The third place prize $200 and the fourth team, $100.

Tickets will remain on sale until early Friday afternoon at Osborn's Barbers, Reark's, Colonial Grill and Hot Dog Shoppe in East Liverpool and Katich's Confectionery and Migliore Ford in Midland.

Young Senator Gains 4th Straight Win In Majors

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Young Joe Coleman, a minor league flop with a major league future, figured Senatorial backing would keep him in Washington this year.

So far, the 20-year-old right-hander has received all the support he's needed — from the fumbling New York Yankees.

The Senators poured across nine unearned runs — the last four on Ken McMullen's grand slam homer — in the second inning Wednesday night and whipped New York 10-4 as Coleman breezed to his fourth victory in as many big league appearances.

Rico Petrocelli drove in four runs, leading Boston past the Chicago White Sox 5-4 in their season opener, and Detroit trimmed California 6-3 behind Mickey Lolich's six-hitter in the only other American League games. Cleveland was rained out at Kansas City.

Coleman, whose father Joe, Sr., pitched for the Philadelphia Athletics 20 years ago, was a 19-game loser at York, Pa., in the Eastern League last season. He came to the Senators' training camp this spring with an overall minor league mark of 9-29.

But he had hurled complete-game victories in three late-season starts for Washington over the past two years — a four-hitter, five-hitter and six-hitter.

The 6-foot-3 rookie from Natick, Mass., failed to finish Wednesday night, giving way to reliever Dick Lines with two out in the ninth after yielding eight hits.

Coleman can't account for the major league-minor league dilemma. But he thinks part of his success in the majors has been due to the Senators' defensive support. "I have more confidence when I pitch with Washington because they have the guys who make the big plays," he said.

The Yankees' failure to make the plays cost them in the big second inning Wednesday night. Washington managed only four hits during the uprising, but three New York errors and four walks kept the rally alive before McMullen capped it with his bases-loaded blast.

Successive errors by shortstop John Kennedy and first baseman Ray Barker opened the gates before three walks, Cap Peterson's two-run double, Fred Valentine's two-run single and another boot by left fielder Tom Tresh drove Yankee starter Fritz Peterson from the mound.

Jim Bouton came out of the bullpen, walked Frank Howard intentionally and then served up the grand slam to McMullen.

Petrocelli staked the Red Sox to an early 4-0 lead by delivering a run-scoring single in the second inning and lashing a three-run homer off Chicago starter John Buzhardt in the third.

The White Sox fell behind 5-1 before knocking out winner Jim Lonborg with a three-run burst in the seventh. Relievers John Wyatt and Don McMahon then slammed the door.

Lolich pitched hitless ball through four innings, gave up two runs in the fifth and then finished strong as the Tigers won their first of the year.

Gates Brown rapped his second homer in two nights for Detroit and Bill Freehan, Lolich's batterymate, drove in three runs with a double and ground out.

Dierker Recovers To Win

Astros Top Braves Again; Phils Win On Wild Pitch

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Larry Dierker was almost perfect at the end of last season and lost.

He wasn't quite that good Wednesday night, but won.

Dierker was rapped for three hits and a pair of runs in the first inning against the Braves but hung on and wound up with a 4-2 victory as Houston beat the Braves for the second straight night.

It was a far cry from the young right-hander's final appearance last year when he pitched eight innings of perfect ball against the New York Mets, only to lose his perfect game, no-hitter, shutout and finally, the ball game in the ninth.

The only thing Dierker lost in the ninth this time was his edge. After the shaky first inning, he set the Braves down on two singles until there were two out in the ninth.

Then singles by Joe Torre and Rico Carty put him in a jam but catcher John Bateman bailed him out by picking Carty off first base for the game's final out.

In the only other National League game played, Bill Hands' wild pitch with two out in the 11th inning allowed Tony Taylor to score with the winning run as Philadelphia shaded Chicago 5-4.

a single by Jim Wynn, Ed Ma-

The Braves, who beat Houston 12 straight times at the end of last season, jumped off to a 2-0 lead against Dierker in the first inning on singles by Denis Menke and Torre sandwiched around Hank Aaron's triple.

But Houston bounced right back on a walk to Joe Morgan, thews' sacrifice fly and Rusty Staub's double.

Staub walked with one out in the sixth, moved up on an infield out and scored on Bob Aspromonte's single for the tie-breaking run. Jim Landis' eighth-inning single following a walk and a steal produced the Astros' final run.

Hands' wild pitch with the bases loaded in the 11th allowed the Phillies to snap a tie which had existed from the seventh inning when Rich Allen cracked a two-run homer for Philadelphia.

Cookie Rojas also smashed a two-run shot for the Phillies and Ernie Banks connected for the Cubs. Banks' homer was the 420th of his career.

Two Veterans Key Figures In NHL Play

By The Associated Press

Two National Hockey League veterans with a combined 25 years of Stanley Cup experience behind them loomed as the key men tonight as the Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs sought to move closer to semifinal series victories.

The Canadiens, holding a 3-0 edge, can wipe out the New York Rangers by winning tonight and Jean Beliveau, their captain, could be the key. For Toronto, leading Chicago 2-1, goalie Terry Sawchuk has been the difference so far.

Beliveau, who missed a hefty chunk of the regular season with an eye injury, leads all Cup scorers with two goals, three assists and five points in Montreal's three victories.

He gave the Canadiens a two-goal edge in the early minutes of Tuesday's 3-2 triumph and forced the Rangers to play catch-up after that.

Sawchuk, at 37 the baby of Toronto's ancient goaltending staff (Johnny Bower is 42), says he's retiring after this season. But he looked like he could go on forever in the last two games against Chicago, limiting the high-scoring Black Hawks to two goals and winning both games 3-1.

Chicago fans had given him the "Goodby Terry" treatment in the Hawks' 5-2 opening game victory but it's been all Sawchuk since then.

Toe Blake, Montreal's long-time coach, refused to count the Rangers out despite his 3-0 lead.

Meets 76ers Friday

Barry's 41 Leads Frisco To Crown

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors, fresh from a rugged victory over St. Louis for the Western Division title, find the towering Philadelphia 76ers and Wilt Chamberlain blocking their road to a National Basketball Association championship.

Coach Bill Sharman of the Warriors said after Wednesday night's 112-107 victory over St. Louis that "I think we've got an excellent chance of upsetting Philadelphia."

A second-half surge, led by Rick Barry, gave the Warriors their victory in the best-of-7 playoff series 4-2. Barry made 41 points.

Philadelphia dethroned defending champion Boston 4-1 to with the Eastern Division crown Tuesday night.

The first game of the best-of-7 championship series will be played Friday night in Philadelphia.

San Francisco trailed throughout the first half and didn't take the lead until Fred Hetzel's lay-up put the Warriors in front 75-73 midway in the third period.

"We just lost our momentum," Richie Guerin, the player-coach of the Hawks, said. "We didn't do anything offensively in the second half."

He added that in the closing minutes when the Hawks made a determined bid for victory that "we were trying to do too many things with the ball instead of just going for the basket."

The loss closed Guerin's 11-year playing career. He has announced that next year he will confine himself to coaching from the sidelines.

Sharman wanted to talk about the upcoming championship series with Philadelphia. "I think we've got an excellent chance. . . We won only two of seven games with them during the regular season, but we were really out of only one game."

Besides Barry's 41 points, Jeff Mullins, a Hawk castoff, scored 26 points for San Francisco. Nate Thurmond of San Francisco led both teams in rebounding with 21.

St. Louis, which outrebounded the taller Warriors 74-65, had a 28-point performance from Zelmo Beaty. Little Len Wilkens, the St. Louis captain and backcourt ace, kept the Hawks in the game with 21 points.

Yesterday's Stars

PITCHING — Mickey Lolich, Tigers, checked California on six hits in a 6-3 victory over the Angels.

HITTING — Rico Petrocelli, Red Sox, singled twice and homered in three at-bats, driving in four runs as Boston topped the Chicago White Sox 5-4.

Hershey Wins First From Pittsburgh

By The Associated Press

Hershey still is against the wall in its semifinal playoff series with Pittsburgh in the American Hockey League, but the Bears can take heart from Rochester's comeback heroics against Cleveland.

Down two games to none in the best-of-5 series, Rochester bounced back for three straight triumphs, including Wednesday night's 3-1 clincher.

Hershey trails Pittsburgh three games to one in the best-of-7 semifinal series, the lone victory coming Wednesday as the Bears beat the Hornets 3-1.

In the other playoff contest, Baltimore spotted Quebec a three-goal lead in the first period, then bounced back for four straight scores and won 4-3. That pulled the Bullets even at 2-2 in the best-of-5 series.

YOUR CAR
By Al Green

A LOOK AT THE FUTURE: Someday you may "check out" a car when you go for a drive. These would be in huge pools of rental electric cars for you to drive, go to see grandmother, come home, use for a week and then turn in when convenient.

Autos of the future must have three features most experts say:

1. They must be personal transportation, such as cars are today. 2. They must avoid pollution of the air. 3. They must be useable on present roads, freeways and streets.

YOU'VE BEEN PLANNING ON A NEW CAR, right? Come in to M & A MOTORS DODGE, 614 Broadway, East Liverpool, and look over the great new 1967 Dodges at DODGE REBELLION HEADQUARTERS, Wells Ave. in Wellsville. We want to sell you a new Dodge, so come in now and let us help you plan. Rebel with us!

A NEW JERSEY FIRM IS TALKING about an Auto-Kinetic wheel which would allow 200 mph autos on special rail systems, and which could also be run independently on present streets. The key is a fluid motor which supplies torque to a driving wheel. It is powered from the car's engine. This wheel eliminates the need for gears and driveshafts, permits low-to-road center of gravity for higher speeds.

2 NBA Stars To Play In Classic

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Gus Johnson, Ray Scott Of Bullets To Appear

GUS JOHNSON
Baltimore's Leading Scorer Set For Classic.

Two standouts of the National Basketball Association have been added to the already star-studded cast of players who will appear in the Ohio Valley Basketball Classic Friday and Saturday nights at the Midland High gym.

From the Baltimore Bullets of the NBA will be Gus Johnson, the 6-6 Akron native, and teammate Ray Scott, a 6-9 regular, who will perform for Luckino's Barbershop of Midland in the two-day event.

THE NBA stars will appear both nights. Johnson, who starred at Akron Central High School as did Nate Thurmond, a star with the San Francisco Warriors, led the Bullets in scoring this past season with a 20.7 average and was Baltimore's No. 2 rebounder.

Johnson is regarded in the NBA as one of the top 10 forwards in the league. During the 1965-66 season, Johnson was voted to the NBA's second All-Star team despite the fact he was injured and only played half the season.

—:—

SCOTT was the fourth top scorer for the Bullets last season and is a six-year veteran of NBA play. He was a member of the Detroit Pistons until traded during the season. He finished as the No. 3 rebounder for Baltimore.

Scott is rated a fine cornerman and averaged 16.3 points a game for the season. He played his college basketball at Portland University.

RAY SCOTT
6-Year Veteran of NBA.

Co-chairman Bob Wycoff contacted both players and was assured they will appear for the Classic.

—:—

JOHNSON AND Scott will be joined on Luckino's Barbers by Kenny Nevels, 6-2, and Henry Hughes, 6-5, who performed in the Mid - West Professional League this past season.

Also with the Midland entry are Red Jones, the Little All-American from Youngstown University and Mickey Yugovich, 6-4, also of Youngstown.

Luckino's will face Johnson's Pontiac in the second game Friday night about 9 following the opener between Hot Dog Shoppe and Patterson Industries.

—:—

IF LUCKINO'S and Hot Dog Shoppe should survive Friday night's first round, a possible match could develop between Johnson and Connie Hawkins, the 6-9 former Globetrotter, in the championship game.

Prize money will be awarded with the championship team receiving $400 while the runnerup will be given $300. The third place prize $200 and the fourth team, $100.

Tickets will remain on sale until early Friday afternoon at Osborn's Barbers, Reark's, Colonial Grill and Hot Dog Shoppe in East Liverpool and Katich's Confectionery and Migliore Ford in Midland.

Hershey still is against the wall in its semifinal playoff series with Pittsburgh in the American Hockey League, but the Bears can take heart from Rochester's comeback heroics against Cleveland.

Down two games to none in the best-of-5 series, Rochester bounced back for three straight triumphs, including Wednesday night's 3-1 clincher.

Hershey trails Pittsburgh three games to one in the best-of-7 semifinal series, the lone victory coming Wednesday as the Bears beat the Hornets 3-1.

In the other playoff contest, Baltimore spotted Quebec a three-goal lead in the first period, then bounced back for four straight scores and won 4-3. That pulled the Bullets even at 2-2 in the best-of-5 series.

YOUR CAR

A LOOK AT THE FUTURE: Someday you may "check out" a car when you go for a drive. These would be in huge pools of rental electric cars for you to drive, go to see grandmother, come home, use for a week and then turn in when convenient.

Autos of the future must have three features most experts say:
1. They must be personal transportation, such as cars are today. 2. They must avoid pollution of the air. 3. They must be useable on present roads, freeways and streets.

YOU'VE BEEN PLANNING ON A NEW CAR, right? Come in to M & A MOTORS DODGE, 614 Broadway, East Liverpool, and look over the great new 1967 Dodges at DODGE REBELLION HEADQUARTERS, Wells Ave. in Wellsville. We want to sell you a new Dodge, so come in now and let us help you plan. Rebel with us!

A NEW JERSEY FIRM IS TALKING about an Auto-Kinetic wheel which would allow 200 mph autos on special rail systems, and which could also be run independently on present streets. The key is a fluid motor which supplies torque to a driving wheel. It is powered from the car's engine. This wheel eliminates the need for gears and driveshafts, permits low-to-road center of gravity for higher speeds.

Clay Can't Fight In Penna. Either

CHICAGO (AP) — Herbert Muhammad, Cassius Clay's Black Muslim adviser, has ruled out any title bout at any location between the heavyweight champion and Floyd Patterson.

Muhammad, in Chicago, lashed out with a torrent of bitter words at the order Wednesday of Gov. Raymond Shafer of Pennsylvania directing that state's athletic commission to eliminate Pittsburgh as a site of the bout scheduled April 25.

Shafer's order came after a ruling Tuesday by the Nevada State Athletic Commission rejecting a proposal to hold the bout in Las Vegas.

Muhammad charged officials of the two states with religious and racial prejudice and said: "If Mohammad Ali (Clay) was a white Christian champion I don't think the fight would have been stopped."

He said he had told trainers to break up Clay's training camp in Las Vegas, come home and "forget about the whole thing."

Clay promptly boarded a plane and left the state. On his way through the air terminal at Las Vegas he told reporters he would definitely go into the Army April 28 as his draft board has ordered because "It would break my mother's heart if I didn't."

Clay's attorney in Cincinnati took another legal step to stop the Army from drafting Clay.

In a motion filed with the U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals the attorney, Hayden Covington, asked for an injunction to halt Clay's scheduled induction in Houston pending an appeal from a decision by U.S. District Judge James Gordon of Owensboro, Ky.

Judge Gordon had rejected Clay's plea for exemption from service on the grounds he is a Black Muslim minister.

Muhammad said Clay would not fight Patterson at any location and said there were no plans for a title defense with any other challenger.

"If the governor (of Pennsylvania) knew the champion was going to be beaten by Patterson," Muhammad said, "he would have let the fight go on."

"They are trying to stop it because the champion is a Muslim and a Negro. This has given the whole country a black eye."

"This is how we still live in a land where we have to endure religious and race prejudice. We are not enjoying our own rights while we are being asked to fight overseas for the rights of others."

The scheduled 15-round match between Clay and the former two - time world heavyweight champion was at first approved by the Pennsylvania commission when talk of Pittsburgh as a possible site first came up five weeks ago.

Shafer said that when word came from Las Vegas that Gov. Paul Laxalt had ordered the fight out of Nevada he telephoned him and asked for his reasons.

Shafer said Laxalt told him that since he felt the first Clay-Patterson bout — won by Clay with a 12th - round technical knockout in Las Vegas in 1965 — was not a good fight there was no reason to stage a rematch.

Pro Football Officials See Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pete Rozelle headed a delegation of pro football officials visiting Cincinnati today for a progress report on plans for a new stadium.

The visit was billed as "strictly for information," but some sources said, in view of those attending, the official awarding of an American Football League team to Cincinnati might be made.

Rozelle is commissioner of the National Football League and the AFL, with which the NFL is merging.

Also expected for the meeting today with civic officials were Milt Woodard, president of the AFL, and three club owners on the AFL expansion committee — Sonny Werblin, New York jets; Ralph Wilson, Buffalo Bills, and Lamar Hunt, Kansas City Chiefs.

In addition, former Cleveland Browns coach Paul Brown arrived here Wednesday night from his California home. Brown has put in a bid to operate a football team in Cincinnati.

Brown was evasive to questions from reporters, but said: "We have been told there would be no announcement on the francise at this meeting but I feel it could be wrapped up in a relatively short time."

Many persons have said Cincinnati still is No. 1 choice to get the new AFL team, which would begin play in 1968.

The football officials had meetings set up with Vice Mayor Eugene Ruehlmann and other city and county officials. Tours were planned for the new stadium site and the University of Cincinnati's football stadium and Crosley Field, both possible interim sites for a football team.

A news conference was scheduled for 1:30 p.m.

Pro Football Officials See Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pete Rozelle headed a delegation of pro football officials visiting Cincinnati today for a progress report on plans for a new stadium.

The visit was billed as "strictly for information," but some sources said, in view of those attending, the official awarding of an American Football League team to Cincinnati might be made.

Rozelle is commissioner of the National Football League and the AFL, with which the NFL is merging.

Also expected for the meeting today with civic officials were Milt Woodard, president of the AFL, and three club owners on the AFL expansion committee — Sonny Werblin, New York jets; Ralph Wilson, Buffalo Bills, and Lamar Hunt, Kansas City Chiefs.

In addition, former Cleveland Browns coach Paul Brown arrived here Wednesday night from his California home. Brown has put in a bid to operate a football team in Cincinnati.

Brown was evasive to questions from reporters, but said: "We have been told there would be no announcement on the francise at this meeting but I feel it could be wrapped up in a relatively short time."

Many persons have said Cincinnati still is No. 1 choice to get the new AFL team, which would begin play in 1968.

The football officials had meetings set up with Vice Mayor Eugene Ruehlmann and other city and county officials. Tours were planned for the new stadium site and the University of Cincinnati's football stadium and Crosley Field, both possible interim sites for a football team.

A news conference was scheduled for 1:30 p.m.

Shue Signs New 1-Year Contract With Bullets

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gene Shue, an insurance man interested in the security of others, has agreed to an extension of his high-risk job in the National Basketball Association.

Shue has signed a one-year contract to coach the Baltimore Bullets, a team which approached an NBA record for futility last season by posting a dismal 20-61 record.

Salary terms were not disclosed when the rehiring was announced Wednesday, but Shue is believed to have signed for about $25,000 a year.

The former NBA backcourt star said the Bullets' owners accepted his proposed contract figure — which may be a little low considering the task confronting the coach. But Shue is optimistic.

"I think things will be a lot better next year," the 34-year-old coach said. "If we can help the club in next month's college draft and make some trades, we should play an important role in the Eastern Division.

"If we have to make trades, there will be trades. After winning only 20 games, every job in the club is open as far as I'm concerned."

Baltimore had three coaches last season, with Shue taking over Dec. 5 after the Bullets won only four of their first 25 games under Mike Farmer and Buddy Jeannette — the team's general manager who acted as interim coach. Under Shue, Baltimore won 16 and lost 40.

Shue was a promising insurance agent when he accepted the Bullets' coaching offer.

"I have no long-range goal in coaching," he said. "But it was something I always wanted to do, and I couldn't turn down the offer. However, I'm not going to stay in coaching for any length of time."

Tournament Of Champions Is Under Way

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The greens were never greener, thanks to rain the past day or so, and the rough was tough enough as the 15th annual Tournament of Champions, Las Vegas' springtime contribution to golf, got under way today.

Arnold Palmer, the defending champion who would like to make it three in a row, two-time winner Jack Nicklaus, Bill Casper and Gay Brewer headed a cast of 26 professionals who qualified for the tournament by having won a PGA-sanctioned event in the past year.

In the first twosome are Palmer and Roberto de Vicenzo, Argentina's veteran star.

Newly crowned Masters champion Brewer, who almost made it but lost to Palmer in a playoff here a year ago, and George Archer are the last pair to tee off.

The setting is the rolling, 6,625 - yard, par-36-35-71 Stardust Golf Course, which is a new experience for the visiting professionals. In previous years, the Desert Inn Country Club was the scene.

As usual, the weather may be a factor in the pros' drive for the $20,000 top money, and windy weather was forecast for the afternoon.

Last spring, despite winds that blew as much as 55 miles per hour, Palmer fashioned a tremendous 69—three under par for the course—to defeat Brewer and his 73 in the playoffs.

Palmer, Nicklaus, Casper and Brewer were listed equally as 5-1 favorites to win this edition in a community where the natives will bet on almost anything.

Julius Boros and Doug Sanders were next in the fancy of the wager-minded at 6-1.

In the past five years, Palmer has won this event three times and Nicklaus twice, but whether the shorter Stardust course will hamper these two long hitters remain to be seen. Fellows with excellent iron shots and short games, such as Boros, Sanders or Art Wall Jr., who captured this tournament in 1954, might prevail.

Tournament Director Bo Wininger, after watching the final practice rounds Wednesday, observed, "I feel certain that the boys will have a good contest going here. The course is 6,625 yards, but will have rolling features to it, which will make it play longer than the listed yardage. Besides, there are 25 sand traps and six water hazards, which should make the boys a little careful out there."

Motorist Given Fine, Jail Term

LISBON — Charles Walters, 34, of 217½ E. Lincoln Way, was fined $150 and costs and was sentenced to three days in jail Wednesday for driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Arrested Tuesday night by Lisbon police, Walters pleaded guilty last night before Mayor Dean Stockman.

The mayor fined Rose Mary Shreve, 19, of E. Park Ave. $25 and costs after she pleaded guilty to shoplifting. An affidavit filed yesterday by Richard Lefebvre, manager of the Ben Franklin Store, charged her with taking white slacks worth $4.

Net Earnings Drop

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A $5.5 million drop in sales led to a $4.2 million decrease from the year-ago quarter in net earnings at Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp. the past three months, officials disclosed. First quarter sales totaled $76.8 million, with net earnings 2.7 million or 40 cents a share.

Rep. Weltner Slated For Ohio Appearance

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The new deputy director of the Democratic National Committee, former U. S. Rep. Charles Weltner of Georgia, is scheduled for appearances around Ohio Friday.

Weltner, heading the Young American Division of the National committee, will make stops in Columbus, Akron and Cleveland before an evening address to the National Collegiate Youth Democrats in Cincinnati Friday night.

Flag Day is a legal holiday in Pennsylvania.

Re-Elect 3 Officials

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The United Glass and Ceramic Workers of North America re-elected three of its top four officials and all six district presidents, according to the union's international office here. Re-elected were President Ralph Reiser; Lewis McCracken, secretary-treasurer; and First Vice President H. Wayne Yarman.

Charged With Murder

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — Eugene W. Kuntz, 26, was charged Wednesday with first - degree murder in the fatal beating Feb. 24 of Mrs. Eva Gundros at her home just outside Warren. Kuntz, of nearby Howland Twp. pleaded innocent and was held without bond.

When courting, puffins nibble at each other's bills.

Shue Signs New 1-Year Contract With Bullets

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gene Shue, an insurance man interested in the security of others, has agreed to an extension of his high-risk job in the National Basketball Association.

Shue has signed a one-year contract to coach the Baltimore Bullets, a team which approached an NBA record for futility last season by posting a dismal 20-61 record.

Salary terms were not disclosed when the rehiring was announced Wednesday, but Shue is believed to have signed for about $25,000 a year.

The former NBA backcourt star said the Bullets' owners accepted his proposed contract figure — which may be a little low considering the task confronting the coach. But Shue is optimistic.

"I think things will be a lot better next year," the 34-year-old coach said. "If we can help the club in next month's college draft and make some trades, we should play an important role in the Eastern Division.

"If we have to make trades, there will be trades. After winning only 20 games, every job in the club is open as far as I'm concerned."

Baltimore had three coaches last season, with Shue taking over Dec. 5 after the Bullets won only four of their first 25 games under Mike Farmer and Buddy Jeannette — the team's general manager who acted as interim coach. Under Shue, Baltimore won 16 and lost 40.

Shue was a promising insurance agent when he accepted the Bullets' coaching offer.

"I have no long-range goal in coaching," he said. "But it was something I always wanted to do, and I couldn't turn down the offer. However, I'm not going to stay in coaching for any length of time."

Tournament Of Champions Is Under Way

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The greens were never greener, thanks to rain the past day or so, and the rough was tough enough as the 15th annual Tournament of Champions, Las Vegas' springtime contribution to golf, got under way today.

Arnold Palmer, the defending champion who would like to make it three in a row, two-time winner Jack Nicklaus, Bill Casper and Gay Brewer headed a cast of 26 professionals who qualified for the tournament by having won a PGA-sanctioned event in the past year.

In the first twosome are Palmer and Roberto de Vicenzo, Argentina's veteran star.

Newly crowned Masters champion Brewer, who almost made it but lost to Palmer in a playoff here a year ago, and George Archer are the last pair to tee off.

The setting is the rolling, 6,625 - yard, par-36-35-71 Stardust Golf Course, which is a new experience for the visiting professionals. In previous years, the Desert Inn Country Club was the scene.

As usual, the weather may be a factor in the pros' drive for the $20,000 top money, and windy weather was forecast for the afternoon.

Last spring, despite winds that blew as much as 55 miles per hour, Palmer fashioned a tremendous 69—three under par for the course—to defeat Brewer and his 73 in the playoffs.

Palmer, Nicklaus, Casper and Brewer were listed equally as 5-1 favorites to win this edition in a community where the natives will bet on almost anything.

Julius Boros and Doug Sanders were next in the fancy of the wager-minded at 6-1.

In the past five years, Palmer has won this event three times and Nicklaus twice, but whether the shorter Stardust course will hamper these two long hitters remain to be seen. Fellows with excellent iron shots and short games, such as Boros, Sanders or Art Wall Jr., who captured this tournament in 1954, might prevail.

Tournament Director Bo Wininger, after watching the final practice rounds Wednesday, observed, "I feel certain that the boys will have a good contest going here. The course is 6,625 yards, but will have rolling features to it, which will make it play longer than the listed yardage. Besides, there are 25 sand traps and six water hazards, which should make the boys a little careful out there."

Motorist Given Fine, Jail Term

LISBON — Charles Walters, 34, of 217½ E. Lincoln Way, was fined $150 and costs and was sentenced to three days in jail Wednesday for driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Arrested Tuesday night by Lisbon police, Walters pleaded guilty last night before Mayor Dean Stockman.

The mayor fined Rose Mary Shreve, 19, of E. Park Ave. $25 and costs after she pleaded guilty to shoplifting. An affidavit filed yesterday by Richard Lefebvre, manager of the Ben Franklin Store, charged her with taking white slacks worth $4.

Net Earnings Drop

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A $5.5 million drop in sales led to a $4.2 million decrease from the year-ago quarter in net earnings at Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp. the past three months, officials disclosed. First quarter sales totaled $76.8 million, with net earnings 2.7 million or 40 cents a share.

Junior Editors Quiz on FLORIDA KEYS

QUESTION: How were the Florida Keys formed?

ANSWER: A coral reef results when the tiny living animals called coral polyps create formations in the sea by the joining of billions of the hard limestone coverings in which they live. Such reefs can only exist in water 65 degrees or warmer, and there must be an ocean current which provides them with the extremely minute sea creatures on which they feed. These conditions are present at the lower tip of Florida. The Gulf stream, carrying food supplies, sweeps across the tip. In these warm waters, coral reefs formed, leading in a chain to the southwest, as shown in our map. The islands of this chain are called keys from the Spanish word cay, meaning small island. But a special tree was also responsible for these little islets, especially those called the lower keys. This is the mangrove tree. Mangrove seeds, blown by the wind, settle in a coral reef and a tree grows, sending out branching shoots which trap mud and silt. In time, more trees grow in this mud. Gradually, from a process such as this, the Florida Keys were originally formed.
